WW1 photo album with some scarce images of Gallipoli & AIF. Also shows images of the AIF in Egypt, England and maybe France. Album measures approx 31cms x 26cms (12 " Inches x 10" inches. The Album contains approx 54 images related to the War (the rest are scenic shots or after the war) of the WW1 Images I'd be comfortable in saying that approx 10 - 13 are Gallipoli related (please view scans) and an interesting one of a dismounted rider, maybe lighthorse & skeleton in the middle east somewhere. There are also approx 21 postcards I'd say they were all sent from overseas during WW1. CONDITION : The album itself is in good condition, wear around edges, no loose pages. The photo's and postcards have all been glued to the album (I have not attempted to remove them) , there is writing on the back of some of the photo's that may help you identify the images and soldiers in the images, but whoever wins the auction will have to decide if it's worth trying to remove them from the album. I think at least some of the photographs relate to the 1st Australian Engineer Company which was on Gallipoli, as there is a cross showing the names of men from that company and hand written on the photo is " In memory of fallen mates " and others may relate to another battalion as the colour patches on some appear to be infantry. Most of the photo's are small the largest being postcard size. PLEASE VIEW THE SCANS TO GET A BETTER IDEA OF WHAT YOU ARE BUYING, some of the images are fairly scarce. Australian buyers I can accept most forms of payment, buyers outside of Australia payment is by paypal. Some of the Gallipoli images are: Walkers Ridge; Men in camp; men in dug out; Anzac beach; rough cemetery; burial at a cemetery and men looking at graves; new reinforcement moving forward with the original Gallipoli troops looking on; wounded probably Gallipoli wounded arms bandaged; photo of a cross to sappers of the 1st Australian Engineers. There the ones I'm sure about there are others showing ships and building that I think may also be Gallipoli related, needs a bit of research. – Cheers Phil
